

Exquisite Cuisine in A Historic Setting

The Patrick C. Haley Mansion

*Celebrities aren't the only ones who can live and get married in mansions.
So can you!*

The Patrick C. Haley Mansion was built in 1891, named after its inceptor, the then Joliet mayor, who envisioned this "Castle on the Hill" to overlook his city. He commissioned nationally known architect and certified Egyptologist Frank Shaver Allen to design his dream and make it a reality. The massive limestone structure took two years to complete. It stands three and-a-half stories high and boasts immense front and back balconies.

The Mansion has since discreetly been updated to include important modern-day amenities necessary for events, such as central air conditioning, beautiful bathroom accommodations and an in-house sound system. However, rest assured; efforts were prioritized to maintain all of the original oak, cherry and mahogany woodwork, stained-glass windows, intricate friezes, ornate adornments and six fireplaces throughout in addition to the authentic Victorian décor.

An array of cuisine options, ranging from formal, plated, sit-down dinners to buffets, can be arranged with a custom caterer, available to accommodate all of your unique needs. An onsite planner is available via appointment to help with this as well as a private viewing of the Mansion, whose staff prides itself on attention to detail to ensure fabulous presentation and spectacular service. Event duration and open bar is for five hours, which means drinks during dinner!

Brides can opt for the ballroom or the conservatory, which offers glass, French doors that open out onto a terrace for indoor/outdoor flexibility. Speaking of outdoor, the grounds boast a beautifully, spacious portico-type gazebo that can be used for outdoor ceremonies.
